

Climate Resilient Urban Parks

World Urban Parks Climate Change and Resilience Committee have launched an innovative Case Study Map which enables Park Managers to upload examples of Climate Change Mitigation in public parks. The case studies are all displayed via a free online map.

You can submit your own Case Study Park via this form or click to visit the Climate Change and Resilience Committee homepage to find out more.

Please share a Case Study (or several!) - the form is simple and should only take a couple of minutes: <https://forms.gle/KwbLwjtKymhv8ifH7>.

Projects can contribute to climate resilience through education, adaptation, and mitigation. We welcome any projects that demonstrate any of these efforts to a global database of Climate Resilient Urban Park projects, allowing us to share it with a worldwide audience of park professionals.

A map of the projects is underway and will be refined and shared as we collect more case studies: <https://www.google.com/maps/d/u/1/edit?mid=1a2pLkJP3u2iGDj-r1CAhVqF2q3Bwx51y&usp=sharing>

About World Urban Parks

World Urban Parks is the organisation to go to for international advice, support and getting connected with urban park, open space and recreation issues, people and activity.

The organisation and our committee members are committed to the belief that parks can play a leading role in addressing climate change and building resilience in an ever-urbanizing world. We know that you and your organization are pursuing this vision in your own work. As such, we're asking that you join us in a commitment to this cause, and share climate resilient park projects for us to promote.”

Kevin J. Halpenny | Senior Parks Superintendent
Parks & Green Infrastructure Division
